Morrisdale Woman Killed By Auto

MRS. F. T. SHANNON HIT BY CAR TRYING TO PASS ANOTHER

Mrs. Shannon Daughter
Of Mr. And Mrs. Jas.
H. Waple Of 3rd Ward.
Was Married Here.

ON WAY TO CHURCH

Mrs. Frank T. Shannon, a highly respected resident of Morris township, met instant death beneath the wheels of an automobile driven by George Dougherty, of Hawk Run, about 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning at Morrisdale. Mrs. Shannon was on her way to attend the 10:30 o'clock mass at the Catholic church and when she attempted to cross the State road in Morrisdale near the Howe Hotel she noticed two cars coming up the road toward her. She stepped aside to let the first car pass and just as she did so Dougherty, whose car was traveling directly behind the first car, turned out and stepping on the gas attempted to run around the other car.

The fast traveling Dougherty machine struck Mrs. Shannon with great force, knocking her down on the concrete road and passing over her. Eye witnesses of the accident rushed to the unfortunate woman's aid and carried her into the Howe home and summoned a physician but it was found that Mrs. Shannon was dead when picked up.

The deceased, who was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Waple, of the Third Ward, was born in Boggs township 54 years ago. She was married to Frank T. Shannon in Clearfield on Feb. 15, 1886, the ceremony being performed by the late Rt. Rev. P. J. Sheridan. To this union twelve children were born, nine of whom with their father, survive to mourn the loss of a devoted wife and mother. She is also survived by her aged parents, three sisters and two brothers as follows: Mrs. John Shannon, of Patton; Mrs. Boyd Peters, of Mill Hall; Mrs. Guy White, Fred R. and W. W. Waple, of Clearfield.

The funeral will be held from the Morrisdale Catholic church Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Interment at Morrisdale cemetery.

NEW YORK HAS SERIES OF WEEKEND CRIMES

New York, N. Y., March 27.—A series of week-end crimes starting with the slaying of one man Saturday night ending shortly before dawn today with the murder of another, and including a long list of assaults and robberies.

Insane Woman, Dressed In Night Clothes, Refuses To Come Down From High Tree Over Big Ravine

Washington, D. C., March 27.—After an all night vigil the police, firemen and hospital attendants were still trying to coax Annie Lymborska down from her perch in a tree overhanging a seventy foot ravine in the grounds of St. Elizabeth's hospital for the insane here.

The woman spent all Sunday night in the tree threatening to leap to her death in the ravine if any of her would be rescuers approached her. The woman escaped from the hospital at 6 P. M. Sunday by breaking a window. She wore only a night gown. Running from the hospital she climbed a tree with incredible agility, screaming at the hospital attendants not to follow her. The police were appealed to and they in turn called the firemen, but the woman still calling at the top of her voice warned them if they approached her she would jump.

Washington, D. C., March 27.—The plaintive cry of her fifteen months old baby failed to bring Anna Lymborska down from her sixty foot perch in the top of a tree. When the baby was placed under the tree the woman insisted it was not hers. "My baby is asleep," she said. The woman had been there more than eighteen hours, threatening to leap to death into the ravine if rescuers approached her. In shrill screams she had been demanding the return of her fifteen months old baby who she believes is being kept away from her. The baby was placed under the tree in the hope that its cries would induce the mother to come down.

TIME TO CALL HALT

New York, N. Y., March 27.—Eighty-six persons were killed or injured in automobile accidents over the week-end, according to figures gathered from all over the country. Of these eighty were killed. The warm weather in many cities brought out an unusually large number of motorists with the consequent jump in casualties. The largest number of deaths was reported from New York where five were killed and three were killed in Detroit.

FIREMAN, HANGING BY KNEES, TOSSED BABES TO SAFETY

Jersey City, N. J., March 27.—Four babies were tossed from a burning building to a policeman hanging by his knees to an awning and were lowered to the ground in safety today. Policeman Frank Broderick climbed the front of a two story frame building where Sol Klubiac and his family were trapped by flames. Getting a grip on a shaking awning with his legs, he called to the father to toss him four unconscious babies, over come by smoke. Each of these he caught and tossed on to a human chain of firemen below.

SUES FOR PURCHASE MONEY

Suit was entered in Prothonotary Ralston's office this morning by Miller & Hartwick, Esqs., on behalf of Nellie and L. S. Pentz, executors of the estate of H. M. Pentz, late of Glen Hope, who are suing Paul and Andrew Kitko for $3345.50, which they allege is due from the Kitkos on the purchase price of a flouring mill, stock, etc., purchased Oct. 4th, 1921.

MEMBER OF DEVINE FAMILY OF DUBOIS SERIOUSLY HURT

Peter Devine Shot Thru
Body In Scuffle In His Own Home; Believe He And Son Had Trouble.

SON DISAPPEARED

Pete Devine, a well known resident of DuBois, is in the Maple Avenue hospital as the result of a serious revolver wound received while at his home Sunday evening shortly after 6 o'clock. The neighbors were first apprised of the trouble after 6 o'clock, when it was reported that Devine had been seriously wounded.

Chief of Police Peace was told of the shooting and immediately went to the Devine home. He found that Mr. Devine was seriously wounded and kept saying that he "was finished." Dr. E. E. Houck had also been summoned and seeing the serious condition of the wounded man, immediately made arrangements to have him removed to the hospital. The full extent of his injuries has not been determined but it is believed that his condition is very serious. The shot entered the left side, and it is not yet determined whether it penetrated the bowels.

On Mr. Peace's first trip to the Devine home none of the members of the families would reveal any of the circumstances leading up to the shooting. After accompanying the wounded man to the hospital, Chief Peace, in company with Special Officer Donaldson made another trip to the Devine home. The members of the family were still very reluctant to talk but as nearly as could be ascertained, Peter Devine had been drinking heavily and was in a decidedly ugly mood all day. It is alleged that several quarrels took place and that late in the day the enraged man made a savage attack on his wife. It is alleged that he was looking for cartridges for his revolver and threatened to drive out all the members of the family; that at the time he started to scuffle with his wife, he had a revolver in his hand. It is then alleged that his son, William Devine, fearing that his mother would be seriously injured, came to her rescue, attempting to pacify his enraged father. The two became involved in a scuffle and it is alleged that during this time the revolver was discharged, the shot entering Peter Devine's left side.

Young William Devine was not at the home on the occasion of Chief Peace's first visit, nor was he there when the two officers returned later. Other members of the family stated that he was at the hospital, but inquiry failed to locate him there. A hunt was instituted for him in order to hear his side of the story, but he was not located last night. It is feared that Mr. Devine's injury may prove fatal, although it is possible that the bullet did not penetrate a vital spot. Mr. Devine at the present time is out on $1,500 bail on a charge of burglary in connection with the robbing of the Eiserman store, two garages and the Kriner mill.

NOVEL METHOD OF FEEDING TROUT IS TO BE TRIED OUT

Harrisburg, Pa., March 27.—(U. P.)—The Department of Forestry proposes to feed Pennsylvania fish by scattering edible insects on the water of trout streams.

It has been decided to plant shad bush, commonly called Juneberry, along brooks flowing through State Forests. The white flowers of this bush attract great quantities of insects. The insects will fall into the stream and be eaten by the fish.

BLAIR DISTRICT ATTORNEY STRUCK HEAVY BLOW BY PRISONER AT BAR

Altoona, Pa., March 27.—Charles Nicewonger struck District Attorney Patterson a heavy blow over the heart today after being sentenced to from 15 to 21 years in the penitentiary on three counts of arson and highway robbery. Judge Baldrige immediately made Nicewonger's sentence 16 years. Patterson was not knocked down by the blow.

'Ol Swimming Hole Fades In Popularity In Contrast With New Swimming Pool At The "Y"

The happiest crowd and most pleasing sight we have witnessed in many a day greeted our eye Saturday morning when we dropped into the Y. M. C. A. building and were invited to look into the new swimming pool. We accepted the invitation and had the pleasure of seeing about forty youngsters from 12 to 15 years of age sporting themselves in the new swimming pool. Talk about the "Ol Swimmin' Hole" with its disease germ laden water. Here were two score of lads dressed in their initial birthday togs enjoying the supreme pleasure of a normal boy's life, a real swim. All the conditions were ideal. Here was a handsome pool lined with tile containing water ranging in depth from 4 to 8 feet and heated to 72 degrees. A dandy spring board was advantageously located at one end of the pool and you should have seen those kiddos going to it under the guiding hand and watchful eye of Physical Director Oberdiek. It sure was a sight to behold. One glance would solve the problem as to whether an indoor swimming pool had been one of Clearfield's needs and whether or not it was worth while going to the expense of building one.

This swimming pool is a "beaut" and while not the largest in the land is, in the language of the fellow who installed the heater and filtration plant, one of the finest, most substantially erected and best equipped pools in the State.

The pool proper is 20x60 feet, regulation size while its foundations or bed of the pool go down to a depth of 14 feet. It was erected at an approximate cost of $15,000. The excavating and concrete work was done by local contractor H. L. Connelly and was a most difficult job inasmuch as the bottom of the pool is several feet below the bed of the river an effective prevention of seepage or leaks made it quite some proposition. An electric pump was used to keep the pit clear of water during the excavating and building and it was necessary to maintain the same day and night for four weeks after the concrete was poured. The work was done under the personal direction of the Contractor, himself an experienced concrete man, and was supervised by Mike Cassidy of near Grampian.

The interior of the pool presents one of the finest jobs of tiling to be found anywhere in this section of Pennsylvania. The work was done by the Altoona Marble and Tile Company under the direction of Edward Allen. The excellence of their work is apparent to all visitors and elicits heartiest commendation as a perfect piece of workmanship.

The pool contains more than a car load of steam and water pipes, with several thousand pounds of steel reinforcement in the foundation.

The plant is equipped with a Novus heater, a Norwood filter and National boilers, which leave nothing to be desired and assures the sanitary condition of the water in the pool at all times. The water capacity of the pool is 65,000 gallons and it takes from five to six hours to carry this water through the heater and filter.

A skylight in the roof 15x30 feet in size with seven large windows in the side and end of the building supply a flood of light, with adequate ventilation throughout.

In addition to all this dressing rooms, shower baths and other necessary adjuncts are supplied and assist in making up the best plant of its kind in Central Pennsylvania.

But when you get the opportunity drop in and look the place over and watch the kiddos enjoying themselves; it is worth while.

BETTER EVERY TIME, DECLARE CRITICS OF LEGION BAND

If the American Legion Band had a press agent he could be truthful in asserting in every announcement of a coming concert that it would be better than the last one for that has been the history of all the concerts given thus far. Yesterday's program far exceeded their best efforts both in performance and in makeup of program, the genial conductor according to the request of his audiences that more music of the popular vein be given. The opening march "The Boosters" was launched with a crash and was heartily applauded. A selection from Faust and the opera Martha were the heavy numbers on the program and the whirl of the serenade and the smooth strains of the opera Martha took equally well with the cosmopolitan audience. The intermezzo was especially pleasing, a variety of reed measures being introduced as a novelty. A feature of the concert was the singing of Miss Kathryn Tozer, the soloist on the program. Miss Tozer has a very sweet voice and a commanding stage personality. The call for the encore was very earnest and sincere and she very graciously responded. Attendance at the concert was a little below par owing to a great many church and community activities which were in session at the same hour but the band members can be assured that they have won a place in the hearts of Clearfield's music loving population which will bring them the proper support in the near future.

- And in finding a balance due to the Sheriff of $11,781.04.

MOHAMMEDANS WIN SOVEREIGNTY FOR TURKISH NATION

Paris, France, March 27.—Turkey is to be re-established as an independent sovereign state. In response to demands of millions of Mohammedans throughout the Moslem world, including India, the Allied near east commission today announced decisions bestowing to the Turkish national formal independent national existences.

Paris, France, March 27.—The foreign Ambassadors of France, Great Britain and Italy, who met last week to consider revision of the Treaty of Sevres and to bring to an end the Greek-Turkish war, today issued a communique announcing the following decision: Thousands of square miles of territory, including the territory of Asatolia and a large portion of Thrace, are to be returned to Turkey; the Turks are to be permitted a larger garrison at Constantinople; Turkey is to be permitted to increase her army from 50,000 to 85,000; the Allies will occupy the Gallipoli peninsula to safeguard the entrance to the Dardanelles; a commission will be set up on which Turkey will be represented.

The dwellers on Old Town Road were disturbed last night by a large flock of wild geese, which made the Susquehanna a resting place on the journey north.

Mayor Kittelberger issued a proclamation today in which he requests that all stores and businesses places close their doors tomorrow from 2 to 3:30 p. m. out of respect to the memory of the late Harvey J. Flegal, whose funeral will be held at that hour.

Friends May Review The Remains Of H. J. Flegal At Trinity M. E. Church

The body of the late Harvey J. Flegal will be removed to the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, at twelve o'clock tomorrow (Tuesday) where it will be viewed by friends until the hour of the funeral services which has been set at two o'clock. The funeral will be in charge of Rev. Dr. Horace L. Jacobs, the new pastor of Trinity, assisted by former pastors Dr. H. L. Bender and Dr. M. E. Swartz and Rev. John McCurdy.

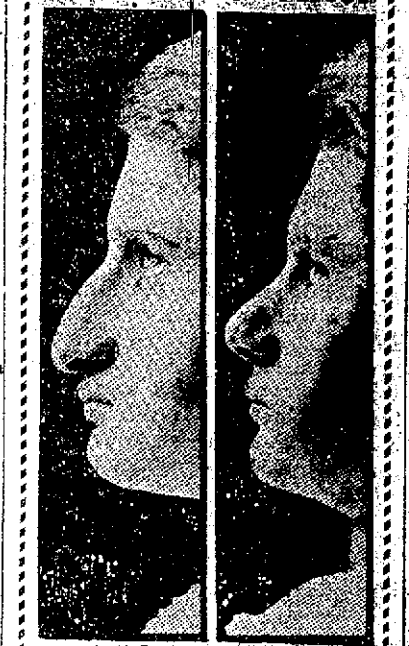

Harvey J. Flegal died in the Clearfield Hospital on Friday, March 24th, 1922, following an operation for appendicitis made three days previous. He had been a sufferer from some hidden trouble for four years but the same was of a treacherous nature and never displayed its steadily wearing processes.

Interment will be made at Hillcrest where his body will rest alongside of his son Russell Cole Flegal who was killed in France and brought home for burial in August, 1922.

The deceased was the youngest child of John A. L. and Margaret Fulton Flegal, the father dying Oct. 21st, 1890 and the mother, July 7th, 1906. His brother Edward died in 1904, his sister, Mrs. Julia Smith.

CURWENSVILLE

At a recent meeting of the Curwensville Business Men's Association or as it is now to be known the Curwensville Chamber of Commerce, it was decided to co-operate in every way with the Community Association in making the coming 4th of July the biggest and best ever known in Curwensville. It seems early, with snow in the air, to talk July 4th, but these two bodies believe in getting started early, advertising liberally and keeping it before the people so they cannot forget. Begin now and plan to stay in town for the great day and help make it a 4h long to be remembered.

Special services are to be held in the United Christian church beginning this (Monday) night. Rev. Salvie, of Clearfield, will be in charge. Rev. J. C. Glenn, of Barnsboro will preach every night this week.

Moths and Mimicry.
In some large quarries in Argentina it has been observed that a certain species of night-flying moths frequents these places during the day to rest. The moths lie flat against the rocks, which they match perfectly in color, and are practically invisible. This instance is peculiar by reason of the fact that these quarries contain a colored stone which is unknown elsewhere, and the further fact that it is less than a hundred years since the quarries were opened.—Scientific American.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

A recently-completed topographical survey of central Pennsylvania has determined the oft-disputed fact that the highest point in the State is what is known as Mt. Davis, located between the headwaters of Glade Run and Mill Run in Somerset County. In speaking of this survey the State Department of Internal Affairs says in part:

This map is of special interest because on Negro mountain between the head of Glade Run and Rub Mill Run there is a point 3,220 feet above sea level which is thought to be the highest point in the state; at least, it is the highest elevation that has been accurately determined. Further surveys may reveal points in the northern part of the state that are higher. Negro mountain, which lies within the big bend of Casselman river, has a broad, irregular crest with a considerable acreage more than 3,100 feet above sea level.

The Meyersdale quadrangle lies between the Allegheny mountains and Laurel ridge. Aside from the main valley of Casselman river nearly all the land lies above 2,000 feet elevation and a very large part is more than 2,300 feet above sea level. Allegheny mountain crosses the southeast corner of the quadrangle for about three and one-half miles, and here reaches a maximum elevation of only 2,940 feet. The crest however is very uniformly close to 2,900 feet above sea level. This level crest of Allegheny mountain has generally been assumed to be the remnant of a broad rolling plain formerly extending over most of the state which resulted from a long period of erosion. This period of erosion was many millions of years long. It was followed by a general uplift of the land which renewed the cutting power of the streams and has resulted in the general wearing down of the surface.

Pennsylvania State Game Protection killed during the past year: 2362 dogs, 14444 cats, 50 wild cats, 144 foxes, 63 minks, 258 weasels, 3551 crows and 518 hawks, while doing patrol duties in protection of game, while at the same time prosecuting over 3000 violators of the game laws, 327 violations of the fish laws and 1400 violations of the dog license law, in which over $6000 in penalties was recovered.

America and Americans lead the world in sugar eaters. The per capita consumption of sugar last year in the United States amounted to 97.8 pounds. The Department of Commerce has been figuring out how much sugar the people of this country used in 1921, and the total has been placed at 10,548,451,000, which is quite a lot of sugar and which is an increase of 8.4 per cent over the consumption in 1920 and is 25.9 per cent larger than the average consumption for the ten year period ending 1920. The per capita consumption last year—97.8 pounds—was the largest in the history of the country, and the total was nearly one third of all the sugar produced in the world in that year. But two and one half billion pounds of this grand total was produced in continental United States.

Representative Democrats from different counties of the 27th Congressional district, composed of the counties of Armstrong, Clarion, Indiana and Jefferson, met in Brookville Tuesday to recommend a candidate for Congress. After canvassing the situation they agreed upon Miss Jane Leonard, Preceptress Emerita of the Indiana Normal school.

Miss Leonard has been at the head of the girls' department of that institution since 1874 and is a woman of scholarly attainments and high character. She is perhaps the best known woman in Western Pennsylvania, and is held in the highest esteem by everybody who ever attended the Indiana Normal by most of whom she is affectionately known as "Aunt Jane."

Miss Leonard is a member of one of Clearfield county's old pioneer families and sure would make a creditable member of Congress.

Famous American Oaks.

Besides the South Carolina oak three other famous oaks have been named for the Hall of Fame. One is in New Jersey, one in New Orleans and the third in Massachusetts. The last named is known as the Indian War oak. It is in Grafton, Mass., a place which figured prominently during the early wars against the Indians.

Aid to Amateur Astronomer.

The fascinating study of the stars is the oldest of the sciences, and one which has interested human beings for ages. The average person who has not the time to take up this extensive study, but whom the stars interest as he gazes up at them on a clear night, is usually bewildered if he tries to distinguish one from the other. As an aid to the amateur astronomer, a star map has been drawn, which shows the stars of the first five magnitudes, and the different constellation groupings. The stars of the first four magnitudes, and the lines showing the constellation groupings, are marked with radium salt, thus making them shine at night.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Both Animal and Bird.

One of the strangest animals known is the platypus, a creature inhabiting the river banks of Australia and Tasmania. It resembles both an animal and a bird in that its body and tail are like those of a beaver, while its web feet and bill remind one of a duck. It has teeth for chewing its food, but it has no external ear, although its hearing is acute. It lays eggs like a turtle, but suckles its young. A specimen of the animal has been placed on exhibition in the National museum, Washington.

Tomorrow Clearfield citizens will pay their last respects to the memory of Harvey J. Flegal, prominent business man, practical churchman and eminent citizen. He was one of those few whom the town can not well afford to lose. In business, in the church, in the home, his was an example which could well be emulated. Generous to the extreme, his help was always forthcoming in any worthy community enterprise.

The trial of Tex Rickard, the noted New York sports promoter, charged with numerous crimes against young girls, has not been covered in the columns of The Progress, because it falls under the head of matter we ordinarily exclude as not being fit reading for the family table. Only because he is a man of world wide repute is it given any attention by reputable newspapers. However, many who have been following the case, who were friends and admirers of the genius at organization and could not believe that the charges were true, are still of the same opinion and freely express the view that the allegations are a brazen frame-up, directed against this man of international reputation for business and personal reasons. We should not be hasty to condemn any man on charges originating in the city of New York, where conspiring humans daily seek to build fortunes on the ruins of a man's character.

Many children get started on the downward path in ways that could be easily avoided if they had the right kind of attention. A teacher who has charge of a school for backward and troublesome children in another city, said that many of them get on the wrong track in this way:

They fall a little behind in their studies. They feel ashamed at their inability to keep up, and make a showing in comparison with other children. They want to do something to attract attention, and prove that they too have ability and can do things.

Their natural tendency, if they can not excel in normal paths of study, is to try to attract attention by breaking rules. Thus they acquire a certain leadership among the rougher children, who look at them as bold and dashing spirits who are doing interesting things. Such children often have such fascination for others who know much more than they do.

This spirit accounts for a good deal of mischief performed by children. The boys and girls who can do things well find in their regular studies and sports the outlet for their ambitions, and are happy. But the others may have to find their satisfaction in irregular and rebellious ways.

That spirit gets a child in the habit of breaking rules, and may in time result in serious infringement on the rights of others, and perhaps in downright law breaking or crime.

Many children can be diverted from these rough ways simply by giving an outlet for their energy. One such boy was turned into a better state of mind by letting him play the bass drum in a school orchestra. It gave him the outlet he desired. Others acquire the same opportunity through athletics or through hand work and manual training. Almost any such incipient case of waywardness can be checked if handled right and in time.

UNMARRIED PERSONS COMMIT MORE CRIME THAN WEDDED ONES

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 27.—Unmarried persons are more liable to crime than those having a family, it is indicated in the annual report of the Allegheny Workhouse and Inebriate Asylum.

Since 1869 when the workhouse was first opened until 1922, The institution has received 187,420 prisoners, of which 112,686 were single. This number included 8,274 widowers and 5,000 widows.

The report further showed that people between the ages of 20 and 30 are in greatest danger of getting into the "works."

That the workhouse has its regular "customers" 496 persons having been received for fifty times or more.

That the daily average cost of inmates deducting earnings, is about 52 cents each.

"THE MISSING NINE" MYSTERY IN COURT BUT IS CONTINUED

Adam Haag, the Mayor, "Hap" Hillman, City Editor of the Express, Assistant Chief of Police Morris, Alhambra Joe Bogden and officers Jeffreys, Donaldson and Gearhart of DuBois; and Chief of Police Clark of Punxsutawney and Chief Dowdell of Punxsutawney were at the Court House this morning, having been called here as witnesses etc., in the effort now being made to make "a case" out of the nine missing bottles of Golden Wedding, which disappeared somewhere following the arrest of Jesse Robins, the DuBois taxi-driver now doing a thirty day sentence for bootlegging.

A hearing on the missing nine was held for this morning but was continued until a latter date on account of the absence of District Attorney Arnold, due to sickness in his family.

Every fellow suspected of knowing the whereabouts of the missing nine are positive in their statements that they didn't take them and if they did take them, the whisky was long ago and couldn't see any use in attempting to make "a case" out of them now.

Beethoven's Marvellous Music.
The mysterious charms of Goethe's song of Mignon to which Beethoven wrote the music, is that the song is the expression of the same awe-struck yearning which waits and trembles through the music of the night in the melody alone all the wild vagueness and disintegration of the song are manifest, and only because the music is perfect is the impression uniform. Should Wilhelm Meister be lost to literature the blossom of Mignon's life would still bloom in the music—George William Childs.

FIRE DAMAGES THE HOTEL PANTALL AT PUNXSUTAWNEY SATURDAY

Punxsutawney, Pa., March 27.—Fire which did damage to the extent of $20,000, occurred on Saturday evening about 10 o'clock at Punxsutawney when twenty rooms of the Pantall Hotel were ruined by fire and water. Through the able and efficient work of the Punxsutawney Fire Department the fire was gotten under control but one time it looked as if the entire building was doomed.

However, the Pantall Hotel has 55 rooms for use, while the heating system, dining room service, the lobby, the writing room or the lighting system has not been impaired, and the Pantall is still able to furnish lodging and meals to the traveling men.

MAY IMPORT COAL TO SAVE NATION A BIG FUEL FAMINE

Washington, D. C., March 27.—A project for the importation of coal to save the nation from a fuel famine which might result from the walkout is planned by Government officials. The Shipping Board has been asked to consider a scheme to utilize coal as ballast on these vessels plying between the United States and coal producing countries. The experts say that this plan materializes no fuel shortage could come about for twelve months at least.

Spanish Green Olive And Pecan Salad

THE soup may be just right, the fish delicious, the chicken browned to a turn, and the dessert may melt in your guests' mouths. All these are very "usual," however, it's the "unusual" dish that will be remembered and redone to your credit as a hostess, when soup and dessert have been forgotten.

Here's an "unusual" salad, the recipe of which has just been composed by a leading dietitian. It will be a novelty on any dinner table—and a tasty novelty at that.

Select the large size Spanish green olives for this salad, and cut them in quarters lengthwise. Cut pecan meats in halves, then in quarters, using one-fourth pound pecans to a pint bottle of olives. To these quantities, add a cup of nicely seasoned cottage cheese, mixing all together well, and moistening with French dressing. Serve on lettuce leaves, and sprinkle each serving with paprika and finely chopped parsley. Celery cut fine may be used in place of the cheese if preferred.

DID YOU EVER TRY MILK FOR THAT TIRED FEELING?

When you have that tired feeling your system is demanding nourishment of some kind and if you'll try milk and plenty of it, the demands will be met. Milk contains all the nutritive elements that your system asks for and you will find that after you have had milk on your menu for any length of time that you are feeling better than you have for some time and that you can do more work than you have done in the past.

When Dame Nature prescribed milk as the first food, she did not err and it has come down through the ages as the food ideal for all folks. Scientists have aided Dame Nature to the extent of finding a lot more things in milk than folks realized was there and they have found it to be the food that counts. Drink milk and plenty of it.

To Keep Floors in Condition.
Finished floors can be kept in good condition with a comparatively small outlay of time and strength, but the method must be adapted to the kind of finish. Too often, an expensive and carefully applied finish is spoiled by neglect or lack of knowledge of the best methods and materials to use in cleaning. The parts of a floor that receive hardest wear, near doors, for instance, or in halls, can be protected by small rugs, and coconut fiber or other mats placed at all entrances to the house will reduce the mud and dirt which are carried in on shoes and which help to wear down all floor finishes.

Whaleskin Valuable.
Whaleskin is so thick that it can be split into several layers, each as stout as ox hide, and it is excellent for making boots, bags, harness or belting. The usefulness of the whale in this respect is not confined to his outer skin. The stomach furnishes a leather as soft and as strong as the best kid. Another important thing about the whale is that the whole of his skin is good. The skins of cows, horses and other land animals furnish a comparatively small quantity of leather, for only certain portions of the hide are of the right quality.

Typographical Errors!

Too Good for Such a King.
On the birthday of King George III of England, in the year 1764, Mr. Arnold, a London watchmaker, presented the king with a repeating watch he had made for him. The king and the royal family were filled with delight and admiration for this wonderful piece of work, as this repeating watch was less than a silver dime in diameter, and contained 130 parts. It weighed five pennyweights, seven and three-fourths grains.

Why "Bootleg" Whiskey.
"Bootleg" is a pure Americanism, that grew up among the stills of the mountain country. Bootleg liquor was liquor that was secretly carried in the leg of the moonshiner's boot, because no tax had been paid on it. Usually the man who thus carried it was a native who had distilled it himself, and he became known as a bootlegger and the liquor he carried as bootleg whiskey. Nowadays, of course, it is any form of liquor sold in violation of the law.

CLEARFIELD PROGRESS

Raising Livestock In The East

An Article Appearing In The Breeder's Gazette
From A Clearfield
County Breeder

The writer got his introduction to "better live stock" in the wild and woolly west in the middle '80's when James J. Hill unloaded a bunch of Aberdeen-Angus cattle at the little frontier town of Devil's Lake and ordered us to hold a fat stock fair and made the writer treasurer of it. The show was a success financially, for we had the Indians come in and hold races and war dances, and all the flood of incoming emigrants and settlers from far and near came to have a look at the "civilized" buffaloes that were to take the place of the genuine ones that had that year finally disappeared for ever from their old range.

Mr. Hill had conceived and was in the act of beginning the great structure afterwards completed and known as his "empire of the north-west." One of his first conceptions was the rebuilding of the great herds of meat-producing animals that had been destroyed by the insatiable, hide hunters, and this first fat stock show was the exhibition of the first installment of pure-bred cattle so provided.

One of the duties of the writer was to buy and ship buffalo bones that literally covered the territory, now known as North Dakota. It was the last big buffalo country, and, as the days of the "skin hunter" was over there remained only the bleaching skeletons scattered about where they had been wastefully slaughtered in the few years' orgy of killing for sport. The poor Indian and the so-called half breed had no means of subsistence, other than limited Government rations, now the greedy white man had annihilated the wild herds; so they directed their energies to collecting the bones which they traded for fresh meat from the domestic herds and for the limited supply of gaudy-colored calicoes, cheap blankets and beads to take the place of the former supply of buffalo robes, which they had depended upon to keep themselves warm in that land of blizzards.

The buffalo bones were collected and hauled as far as 150 miles, in crude native-made wooden carts, known in history as the Red River carts, made without iron, and heavy and cumbersome in the extreme. Ponies and sometimes steers or cows in rawhide harness, were used for draft animals and a load would average about 500 pounds of bones, for which they were paid the munificent sum of $8 per ton. It was a weird though picturesque sight, to see this long caravan approaching the railroad terminal after weeks of slowly traveling about in their tribal encampments, gathering these whitened relics of former happy days.

There can be a fairly comprehensive understanding of what this new and unique business meant in the early days of the pioneer when the totals are made up, as the writer had occasion to do some years ago, and found that the tonnage actually shipped and used in the industries accounted for no less than $1,250,000 animals. When it is realized that the bones actually gathered, though making up such a huge total in numbers (thus accounted for), it gives a basic for one to try to contemplate the vast herds that ranged the country at large in their day of freedom from "civilization."

Though Mr. Hill began importing purebred cattle before the start, was made to build the great trans-continental line into the frontier country, they had not produced materially, and when the work began, by way of actual construction, the writer's firm actually shipped in trainloads of beef cattle from the east to supply the meat for the contractors as the work progressed westwardly towards the Mouse River country. It was an unique experience to haul buffalo bones out of a district where native animals were killed for the fun of killing, and, on the return trip, haul back into the same district meat of domesticated animals to feed men, some of whom, in all likelihood, wilfully slaughtered the buffalo for fun. It illustrates vividly to me the recklessness with which we handled our natural resources. It is not much different, however, from what we are doing at this very moment when we permit to lie dormant the best of cattle range country at our very doors, while we pay exorbitant freight to haul our beef 2,000 miles or more.

The organization of the banks of our county was effected last summer to try to overcome this ridiculous practice, and in cooperation with the county farm bureau there are good prospects that we shall succeed. Clearfield county was exploited for its hemlock and hardwoods, and now is in the late stages of its coal development, and just beginning to wake up to its most valuable and inexhaustible agricultural possibilities, especially the live stock industry.

Recent experiments indicate that feeder range cattle shipped from the west and put in cut-over timber sections gain 150 to 200 pounds per head from July 1 to Oct. 1. Thousands of acres of these logged-off lands are available for this use here in the very midst of the best kind of market, and much of the land has been sold at around $2 to $5 or $10 an acre, and the same lands cleared up and put in cultivation for corn, wheat, clover alfalfa or berries and fruit is not equalled by any. Corn from measured acres showed 204 bushels, and spring wheat and other grains and grasses were equally good, from one of our local general-purpose farms.

Purebred herds are now being established throughout the county now and with the backing of the banks through the Auxiliary Live Stock Association. Clearfield county in Pennsylvania will be heard from. We now want practical stock breeders and raisers to come in from sections where the business has been successful. We need most of all experienced men in that line.—M. I. McCreight

IN NEW ENGLAND

Lawrence, Mass., March 27.—Lawrence, the scene of bitter battles in previous industrial wars, was plunged into another fight today when 10,000 textile workers walked out. Textile strikes are already in progress in Lowell, and Fitchburg, Mass., and in cities in New Hampshire and Rhode Island. New England is threatened with one of the most wide spread strikes in its history.

The Hyacinth.
The hyacinth is like a balustrade placed upside down. A bed of hyacinths resembles a mass of balusters. Thus that great invention of the renaissance, the balustrade, allows us to gain through it a glimpse of nature.
